Who is collecting your data?

Adur & Worthing Councils are the data controllers (referred to in this notice as “we” or “us”) of your personal data for the purposes of applicable data protection legislation.

We will ensure that we will treat all personal information in accordance with data protection legislation, including the General Data Protection Regulation and Data Protection Act 2018.

Why do we need your data?

We process your data to help us to comply with our statutory duties under the Civil Contingencies Act; Our duties include:

- assess the risk of emergencies occurring and use this to inform contingency planning
- put in place emergency plans
- put in place business continuity management arrangements
- put in place arrangements to make information available to the public about civil protection matters and maintain arrangements to warn, inform and advise the public in the event of an emergency
- share information with other local responders to enhance coordination
- cooperate with other local responders to enhance coordination and efficiency
- providing support for the emergency services;
- providing support and care for the local and wider community;

- Provide and manage Rest Centres & arrange emergency feeding

We achieve this by contacting staff and key holders of community locations using a variety of methods including email, telephone and using SMS text messages and casualty bureau form to warn and inform, mobilise resources and set up, manage evacuation centres, coordinate missing people enquiries and identify vulnerable people.

What is the legal basis for processing this data?

The legal basis for data processing we are relying on comes from Article 6 of the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR). The following sections apply;

- Article 6(1)(c) Legal Obligation - Processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the controller is subject;
- Article 6(1)(d) Vital interest - the processing is necessary to protect someone's life;
- Article 6(1)(e) Public task -the processing is necessary for you to perform a task in the public interest or for your official functions, and the task or function has a clear basis in law.

What data is being collected?

We collect different types of data depending on the situation at the time or when we prepare emergency plans. Please refer to the following types of situations below.

Warning and Informing / Keyholder Information

We invite keyholders to provide their name and contact telephone numbers

Emergency Assistance Centres (otherwise known as a reception centre, rest centre or evacuation shelter)

When an emergency happens people are evacuated to a safe location. There may be some occasions when people are unaccounted for and enquiries to trace these people are made by friends and family.

A form known as a casualty bureau form may be used to record the information of people who are in the emergency assistance centre so that enquiries can be made to see who is accounted for, who is missing and provide any care and support needed.

- Name;
- Address;
- Age;
- Gender;
- Date of birth;
- Medication / Medical information
- Medical conditions;
- Next of kin

Incident Recording

During an emergency we may need to collect information about you to provide assistance. The following personal information may be collected;

- Name;
- Address;
- Age.

What do we do with the data?

The way we process the information depends on the function we perform.

Warning and Informing / Keyholder Information

The Safety & Resilience Team adds keyholder contact information to our Emergency Assistance Centres Plan. Employee contact information is contained with Human Resources staff records. This contact information is also added to an SMS system so in the event of an emergency we can send out a message requesting for a location to be opened or to inform the wider community of safety messages.

Only the Safety Resilience Team and senior staff who have a role to play in emergency response have access to the plan and contact information. The plans are stored on our secure internal system. SMS is provided by a third party supplier who provides the conduit to send text messages.

Emergency Assistance Centres (otherwise known as a reception centre, rest centre or evacuation shelter)

The form used to collect the data is carbonated; only information relating to medical information may be passed on to site medical providers or social care to ensure the best possible care can be provided.

Personal information such as name, address, gender and age will be shared with other responding partners when there is a legitimate need. Sussex Police process this information for the purposes of tracing persons unaccounted for.

For people who have been made homeless as a result of the emergency we will pass your details on to our Housing department for them to make arrangements for longer term housing needs.

Incident Reporting

Your information may also be passed to the emergency services and other responders where it is deemed necessary to save life and property or the information is necessary to assist in the emergency response.

Decision Logs / Meeting Records

Information is collected about the decisions made and courses of action taken by the councils during and after a major incident. This information is made available as evidence to support any subsequent debriefs, inquiries or proceedings.

Emergency Plans

Plans are used to manage an incident. Data within the plans help us to understand the framework for why we do something in a particular way. Most plans do not hold personal data except the Emergency Assistance Centres Plan which hold keyholder data (See above)

We will not

- Share your personal data for marketing or sales purposes;
- Make decisions about you based on automated processing.

How long do we keep data about you?

In line with our Data Retention Policy and legislation we store the following information as detailed below;
